

Privacy Policy

Version 2.1 Effective September 2019

1. Our commitment to your privacy

Metal Manufactures Pty Limited (“MMPL”, “Group”, “we”, “us” or “our”) respects your privacy. MMPL takes its privacy obligations very seriously and wishes to ensure you that your personal information is dealt with in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (as amended by the Privacy Amendment (Enhancing Privacy Protection) Act 2012) (Cth) (“Privacy Act”), the Australian Privacy Principles set out in the Privacy Act (“APP’s”) and this privacy policy.

This policy documents how we manage personal information, and is intended to enhance the transparency of our company’s operations, by notifying you of your rights and our obligations and provide information regarding:

1. the kinds of personal information which we will collect and hold;
2. how we will collect, hold, use and disclose personal information;
3. the purpose for which we collect, hold, use and disclose personal information;
4. how you may access personal information that is held by us and seek correction of such information;
5. how you may complain about a breach of the APP’s or registered APP code (if any) that binds us and how we will deal with such a complaint; and
6. whether we are likely to disclose personal information to overseas recipients.

This policy also includes our policy on the handling of credit reports and other credit-related information.

We update our privacy policy periodically and encourage you to check our website regularly for any updates. A hardcopy of our privacy policy is also available upon request.

2. Our company

MMPL is a company which carries on businesses in Australia under various trading names.

Some of our Australian business units and subsidiaries have separate policies that are consistent with our Group policy. If you are a customer of these business units or subsidiaries, please refer to their respective policies.

3. Acknowledgements

We acknowledge that we must take reasonable steps when handling personal information, and we will endeavour to follow this policy on each occasion, and have taken reasonable steps to comply with the APP’s and the Act, some examples are noted below.

1. Implementation of this privacy policy.
2. Staff training and education (including internal procedures for our staff).
3. Clear and transparent procedures regarding handling of complaints and disclosure of information.

4. How we will collect and hold your personal information

Personal information

For the purposes of the Act and this policy, “personal information” means information or an opinion (including information or an opinion forming part of a database), whether true or not, and whether recorded in a material form or not, about an individual whose identity is apparent, or can reasonably be ascertained, from the information or opinion.

Whenever it is reasonable and practicable to do so, we collect personal information about you directly from you. In some cases, your personal information may be provided to us by third parties such as business associates or agents. If you are asked to provide information about others it is your responsibility to ensure that you have their consent or are otherwise entitled to provide this information to us.

We may also collect personal information that we request from you regarding your use of our services or that we collect automatically from your visits to our websites.

It is your responsibility to provide us with current and accurate personal information so that we can provide our services to you.

Some examples of personal information that we might collect include:

1. your legal name;
2. your business and trading names;
3. the name and title of the individual who represents your organisation or access our websites on your behalf;
4. the email address of that individual and the organisation;
5. the website address and the domain type of your organisation;
6. the telephone numbers, facsimile, postal and street addresses of the organisation information disclosed about your organisation in the enquiry or message submitted, including information we might be able to infer from the context such as sectoral, employment, turnover, geographical, and size issues;
7. the subject matter of the enquiry or message;
8. your browsing history on our website; and
9. records of your communications and other interactions with us.

Sensitive information

For the purposes of the Act and this policy, “sensitive information” means a type of personal information which includes information about an individual’s racial or ethnic origin; health information; political opinions; membership of a political, professional or trade association or trade union; religious beliefs or affiliations; philosophical beliefs; sexual orientation or practices; and criminal record.

MMPL will not collect sensitive information except when the individual client has consented, it is required by law, or in other special specified circumstances, for example relating to individual or public health or safety.

Anonymous information

If you or your organisation prefers, it may remain anonymous to the extent that the name of the organisation need not be provided to us or in being provided it is marked in a way that indicates that you prefer not to be personally identified. However, all data necessary for contractual relations to exist in real time must be provided if we are to be able to fully supply you with our services.

In circumstances where we are required to do so, or are authorised by law, a court or tribunal to ask for your identification, we will request your personal information.

Further it is likely that it will be impractical for us to interact with you without some form of identification, and therefore we may request identification details from you at the beginning of each transaction. For example, we will not be able to open a commercial credit trading account or process a commercial credit application for you without obtaining identification details.

The purposes for which we collect and hold personal information

We will endeavour to only collect and hold personal information which is relevant to the operation of our company.

Our purpose for collecting or holding personal information about you is so that it may be used directly for our functions or activities.

We may use your personal information for the functions or activities of our company to, for example:

1. assess credit applications;
2. review existing credit terms;
3. assess credit worthiness;
4. collect overdue payments;
5. assess credit guarantees (current and prospective);
6. internal management purposes;
7. marketing;
8. sales; and

9. business development purposes and direct marketing.

We may also collect personal information for both the primary purposes specified herein and purposes other than the primary purposes, including the purpose of direct marketing.

We may also collect personal information from other credit providers, Credit Reporting Bodies and any other third parties for the purposes of our functions and activities including, but not limited to, credit, sales, marketing and administration.

How we will hold your personal information

We will take steps to hold personal information in a manner which is secure and protected from unauthorised access.

Your information may be held in either a physical form or in electronic form on our IT system.

We will take steps to protect the information against the modification, disclosure or misuse by including such things as physical restrictions, password protection for accessing electronic IT systems.

We will also endeavour to ensure that our service providers have protection for electronic IT systems and other necessary restrictions.

We will endeavour to ensure our staff are trained with respect to the security of the personal information we hold and we will restrict any access where necessary.

We will endeavour to destroy and de-identify the personal information once it is no longer required.

In the event we hold personal information that is unsolicited and we were not permitted to collect it, the personal information will be destroyed as soon as practicable.

Meeting regulatory requirements

We only collect and hold personal information by lawful and fair means.

We also collect your personal information in order to satisfy our regulatory obligations under applicable laws and rules.

In some circumstances, we may collect and hold personal information that has been collected from a third-party or publicly available source. This will likely occur in instances where:

1. you have consented for this collection (which would usually be via our credit application form); or
2. you would reasonably expect us to collect your personal information in this way and it is necessary for us to collect this information for a specific purpose.

In certain circumstances, your information may be disclosed where required or authorised by law, for example, to government and regulatory authorities or in emergency situations and when assisting in lawful enforcement.

5. Use of information

We collect, hold and use your personal information to enable us to use your details to contact you and to reply to any queries or requests in relation to your account and in relation to the supply to you of our goods and services.

We use your personal information in the administration of your account, which includes us contacting you in order to update your account details (this assists us with keeping our records as up to date as possible) or in order to notify you of changes or improvements to our products or services that may affect our service to you. We may disclose your personal information to administrators who assist in the administration of your account from time to time.

We use your personal information in order to supply our goods and services to you and to meet our contractual obligations to you.

Direct marketing

You consent to us directly marketing our products and service offerings to you. You may withdraw your consent and opt out at any time by making a request (by email) to us not to receive direct marketing communications from us or any company we may approve.

We restrict the disclosure of an individual's details to only those organisations and individuals that we feel you would reasonably expect to receive direct marketing material from. Third parties to which we provide personal information will only use it for the purposes for which it is collected or otherwise as permitted by law.

You consent to us providing personal information about you to:

1. commercial companies that have genuine and relevant product or service to inform you of, and to whom you would reasonably expect us to disclose information as part of our service offering to you;
2. organisations involved in distribution or administration for and on behalf of us or related bodies corporate; and
3. as otherwise permitted or required by law.

6. Disclosure of information

Disclosure

We will endeavour to only use and disclose personal information for the primary purposes noted above in relation to the functions or activities of our company.

Subject to our confidentiality obligations, we may disclose your personal information with anyone that you have given us permission to, any person acting on your behalf or a person or MMPL partner who may have introduced you to us.

We may disclose your personal information to third parties to assist us in providing our services. Your information will be disclosed to third parties on a confidential basis and only if that disclosure is necessary to provide you with our services.

We may use and disclose your personal information for other purposes than you have consented to.

Disclosure to Credit Reporting Bodies (“CRB’s”)

We may disclose personal information to a CRB in accordance with the permitted disclosures as defined under the Act.

We may disclose your Credit Information to a number of CRB’s, some of these are listed below.

7. Disclosure overseas

From time to time we may send your information overseas, including to overseas Group members and to service providers or other third parties who operate or hold data outside Australia. Where we do this, we ensure that appropriate data handling and security arrangements are in place. Please note that Australian law may not apply to some of these entities.

8. Information Security and Storage

Customer information is stored in databases shared by the MMPL group (and its related bodies corporate) situated within Australia and equivalent jurisdictions. MMPL may also disclose your personal information to companies that are part of the MMPL corporate family which may be located overseas (in which case your personal information will remain confidential and the purpose for which the information is collected and used will not change).

We use secure servers in order to store your personal information and ensure proper data storage. We take all reasonable measures to protect personal information that we hold from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

If you provide paper-based documentation, we may retain the paper documents in addition to saving copies in an electronic format.

In addition to sharing your information with the MMPL corporate family, we may store your data using overseas cloud storage products as well as other overseas information technology products and services, where we reasonably believe that the overseas recipient is subject to laws that protect the information in a substantially similar way to the APP’s. We will take reasonable steps to ensure that the overseas recipient does not breach the APP’s in relation to the information. We will only transfer personal information outside Australia to a third-party recipient, if the recipient of the information agrees (or is compelled) to comply with privacy policies that are in accordance with (or are more stringent than) the APP’s.

9. Credit checks and credit reporting

Where you apply to us for credit or propose to be a guarantor, one of our checks involves obtaining a credit report about you.

You consent to us obtaining and making disclosure of Information (as that term is defined in the Act) about you from and to a CRB and/or another credit provider for a commercial credit related purpose and/or a credit guarantee purpose and/or a consumer credit purpose and/or another related purpose. We hereby notify you we may use and/or disclose credit eligibility information under section 21G of the Act.

Credit reports

A credit report contains information about your credit history which helps credit providers assess your credit applications, verify your identity and manage accounts you hold with them. Credit reporting bodies collect and exchange this information with credit providers like us and other service providers such as phone companies.

The Privacy Act limits the information that credit providers can disclose about you to credit reporting bodies, as well as the ways in which credit providers can use credit reports.

Information exchanged with credit reporting bodies

The information we can exchange includes your identification details, what type of credit has been extended to you, the amount of credit extended to you, whether or not you have met your credit obligations and if you have committed a serious credit infringement (such as fraud). We also ask the CRB to provide us with an overall assessment score of your creditworthiness.

Use and storage of credit-related information

We use information from credit reporting bodies to confirm your identity, assess applications for credit, manage our relationship with you and collect overdue payments. We may also use this information as part of arriving at our own internal assessment of your creditworthiness.

We store credit-related information with your other personal information. You can access credit-related information we hold about you, request us to correct the information and make a complaint to us about your credit-related information.

Credit providers may ask credit reporting bodies to use their credit-related information to pre-screen you for direct marketing. You can ask a CRB not to do this. Also, if you've been, or have reason to believe that you're likely to become, a victim of fraud (including identity fraud), you can ask the CRB not to use or disclose the credit-related information it holds about you.

10. Procedures for accessing, updating and correcting your information

You can contact us to access, correct or update your personal information.

We will investigate and deal with your correction request or complaint in a fair, efficient and timely manner. We will normally respond within 30 days.

You can make a request for access by contacting your local Service Centre, or alternatively, by sending an email or letter addressed to our Privacy Officer, details specified below.

The Privacy Officer
Metal Manufactures Pty Limited
Phone: +61 2 8839 9000
Email: reportincident@mml.com.au

With any request that is made we will need to authenticate your identity to ensure the correct person is requesting the information.

We will not charge you for making the request, however if reasonable we may charge you with the costs associated with your request.

You will only be granted access to your personal information where we are permitted or required by law to grant access. We are unable to provide you with access that is unlawful.

MMPL may deny access to information in certain circumstances as permitted by law. For example, there are exemptions as specified in the APP's where access may be denied. If this is the case, we will provide you with the reason for our decision.

Should we hold personal information and it is inaccurate, out of date, incomplete, irrelevant or misleading, or incorrect you have the right to make us aware of this fact and request that it be corrected.

If you would like to make a request to correct your information please contact your local Service Centre or our Privacy Officer on the details above.

In assessing your request, we need to be satisfied that the information is inaccurate, out of date, incomplete, irrelevant or misleading. We will then take all reasonable steps to ensure that it is accurate, up to date, complete and not misleading.

We will normally resolve any correction requests within 30 days. If we require further time we will notify you in writing and seek your consent.

11. Complaints

In the event that you wish to make a complaint about a failure of us to comply with our obligations in relation to the Act or the APP's please raise this with our Privacy Officer on the contact details below:

The Privacy Officer
Metal Manufactures Pty Limited
Phone: +61 2 8839 9000 or 1800 931 141
Email: reportincident@mml.com.au

In dealing with your complaint we may need to consult another credit provider or third party.

If you are not satisfied with the process of making a complaint to our Privacy Officer you may make a complaint to the Information Commissioner. Details of which are below. We suggest you do this only after you have first followed our internal complaint processes.

Office of the Australian Information Commissioner
GPO Box 5218 Sydney NSW 2001
Email: enquiries@oaic.gov.au
Telephone: 1300 363 992
Facsimile: +61 2 9284 9666

The Information Commissioner can decline to investigate a complaint on a number of grounds, including where the complaint wasn't made at first to us.

12. Notification of Changes

If we decide to change our privacy policy, we will post a copy on our website.

13. Further information about privacy rights and credit reporting rules

For further information about the APP's, the Act, or the credit reporting rules please visit the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner website at www.oaic.gov.au.

This document does not create any additional rights under contract, statute or equity law.
